'Eggciting News!'

Dear Parents,

I would like to share with you all some 'Eggciting News' with regards to our plans and preparations for Easter. Many of you will be aware that at this time of year, the School Council have run a competition to encourage as many children as possible to create their own "Egg" scene described as our Easter Eggstravaganza! However, this year, we would like to offer the children (with their parent's help of course) the opportunity of doing something different.

Therefore, I proudly present to you our new Easter competition entitled; "Egg in an Eggciting Place!" Let me explain: As in previous years, this is an optional competition which we would hope that as many children as possible would like to enter. The rules are incredibly simple. The children are to photograph an egg (decorated or not) in a unique and in an exciting/unusual place as they can possibly find. The School Council will be judging the competition and will be looking at the creative nature of the photograph as well as the location chosen.

Additionally, we would like the photograph to be presented in a creative manner too. Judging will also look for more than just a printed photograph, they will be looking at the frame and the overall way in which the photograph is submitted. We are aware that some of you do not have printers at home and we do not want to exclude these families from entering. Therefore, if you would like to send the photograph in on a USB stick for your child's teacher to print out for you or even email the school office, stating the name of your child and class, then we can print it for you.

It will come as no surprise that the winning entries from each class and overall winners will be rewarded with chocolate! I very much hope that you would like to enter this competition and we look forward to seeing the children's own, artistic take on this competition.

All photographs to be submitted and ready for judging in the school hall on Thursday 6th April at 9.00am. The hall doors will be open and ready to receive your entries. Good Luck!

Yours sincerely
