

Friday 10th January 2025

This week the children have focused on kindness and shared the story, 'Have you filled your bucket today?' by Carol McCloud. They then discussed how we can and have show kindness to others.

To continue this I would like the children to think carefully about how they can show kindness to others. Your child has brought home a bucket template and I would like them to decorate it (both sides please) and then use some of the stars to show different ways they can or have shown kindness to others. You could scribe their responses or if appropriate, your child could write words/ short sentences using their phonics knowledge.

The children will share their buckets and then hang them onto our class kindness tree.

Please send completed work to school by Wednesday 15th January.

Comments and photographs can be added via ClassDojo messages.

Many thanks and have a wonderful weekend,
Miss Alexander
